

THE FRANKLIN CAR

Here are Two Good Reasons For Choosing It.

The first reason is: because it delivers, day in and day out,

20 miles to the gallon of gasoline—instead of the usual 10.

The second reason, equally forceful, is: because it delivers,

10,000 miles to the set of tires—instead of the usual 5,000.

There is no longer any excuse for owning a wasteful motor car. Franklin Light Weight has put heavy cumbersome construction into the discard, and brings about the needed economy of gasoline and tires.

And, in the Franklin, you will find that economical operation is only one of the different things. With it go riding comforts such as you have never experienced before; an ease of handling that leaves you free from strain, and a Direct Air Cooling system that eliminates, entirely the many summer and winter troubles common to water-cooled cars.

May we bring a car around for demonstration?

GOVERNMENT REGISTRATION OF LIBERTY BONDS

Treasury Department Urges This Method of Insuring War Securities Against Loss Or Theft.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—To insure against loss or theft of Liberty bonds, owners are being urged by the treasury department to have their coupon bonds registered, although the process results in a great amount of work and expense for the government now that the number of bond owners runs above 25,000,000. The registration can be arranged at most banks and is done without cost to the owner. After registration, if a bond is accidentally lost, stolen or destroyed, the government will pay it at maturity just the same, and interest coupons will be mailed to the bond owner twice a year without requiring him to go to the trouble of clipping coupons and presenting them at a bank.

The fact that bonds of the first Liberty loan or bonds of the second Liberty loan are converted into bonds bearing higher rate of interest does not affect the dates on which interest is payable, explains a treasury announcement.

Interest is paid on bonds of the first loan, regardless of whether they have been converted, on June 15 and Dec. 15, on bonds of the second loan, May 15 and Nov. 15; third loan, March 15 and Sept. 15; fourth loan, April 15 and Oct. 15.

The treasury department also explains that owing to the mechanical difficulties of preparing millions of interest checks on registered bonds, coupon bonds will not be exchanged for registered bonds or registered bonds transferred on the books from one owner to another, during a month before an interest-paying date of each particular loan. For example, exchanges of coupon bonds for registered bonds of the first Liberty loan between May 15 and June 15, and between Nov. 15 and Dec. 15, for the second loan these dates would be April 15 to May 15, and Oct. 15 to Nov. 15. For the third loan, Feb. 15 to March 15, and Aug. 15 to Sept. 15. For the fourth loan, March 15 to April 15, and Sept. 15 to Oct. 15.

This arrangement is explained by the treasury department as follows: During any period when the transfer books for any particular loan are closed no transfers of registered bonds of such loan or interchanges of registered and coupon bonds of such loan will be permitted, but if requests for transfer of any such registered bonds or interchanges of any such registered coupon bonds are received during any such closed period, the requests will receive attention upon the reopening of the books.

The semiannual interest will be paid to the person in whose name bonds are registered as shown by the books of the treasury department on the date the books close, regardless of any disposition that may be made by the registered holder during the closed period. If coupon bonds are presented for exchange for registered bonds during such closed periods, interest on such registered bonds will be paid in the usual manner, and the coupon bonds delivered upon such exchange after the reopening of the books will have the coupon maturing on the interest day for which the books were closed and prior coupons detached.

CONVICT TRIES TO SAVE YOUNG GIRL

Confesses Part in Murder of Woman at Trial of Stranger.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—James F. Regan, Sing Sing prison inmate and confessed author of a long series of crimes, took the witness stand in criminal court here and places his own future in jeopardy in an effort to save Miss Elizabeth Banks, 3-year-old daughter of a wealthy family, from conviction on a charge of murdering Mrs. Helen Hamel, New York lodging house keeper.

Seemingly somewhat bored by the proceedings, the convict played the "hot" role in his own defense, and almost miraculously occurred. He asserted Miss Banks' innocence and declared Mrs. Hamel came to her death while he and a "pal" were robbing her house.

He denied that he had actually killed Mrs. Hamel, though he admitted he "tied a towel around her neck and knotted it in her hair," he said, was after Mrs. Hamel "sagged-caved in" after a struggle with his "pal," name he steadfastly refused to give.

"Do you know this girl?" Regan was asked by the prosecutor, indicating the defendant.

"No, I want to see justice done," the convict answered.

RAIL EMBARGOES WILL BE LIGHTER

Administration Says Roads Are Free From Congestion and No Tieup Expected.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Railroad embargoes this winter probably will not be nearly so severe as last winter, said a statement by the railroad administration in response to inquiries from shippers as to the transportation outlook.

"The consistent carrying out of these policies," said the statement referring to embargoes, "has resulted in an exceptional degree of freedom from congestion during the period of heavy business this fall and there are now outstanding no general embargoes against the free movement of traffic. In this respect transportation conditions are much better than for several years past at this season of the year.

At the same time, if difficult conditions do arise unexpectedly the only way to deal effectively with them will be through the prompt use of measures which prevent the railroads from being clogged.

KING OF ENGLAND HOLDS COUSIN AS GREAT CRIMINAL

LONDON, Dec. 4. (Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—What does King George really think of his cousin, William Hosenfeldt, former German emperor?

That is a question that has been often asked, but has never received anything approaching an authoritative answer. According to a writer in the Daily News, which is usually very careful as to the trustworthiness of what it prints, King George regards him as "the greatest criminal in the world today."

The writer says that he was talking a few days ago with a well-known statesman, who has had many opportunities during the war, and especially lately, of hearing the king express his views of the Kaiser. And he thus summarized what the "well-known statesman" told him:

"My informant says that the king's feelings and expressions are so strong that they could hardly be reproduced verbatim, but that the substance of them is that the Kaiser is the greatest criminal in the world today; that he is directly responsible for all the outrages of the war."

ALLEGED WIFE SLAYER TAKEN BACK FOR TRIAL

Special Officer L. S. Chilton, of the DuPont Powder company, Jacksonville, Tenn., reached Memphis Wednesday morning for George Bohannon, a negro, alias Dave Mason, an alleged notorious crook, who is charged with killing his wife.

POINTS LESSON OF PEACE IN WAR

Admiral Mayo Says If U. S. Had Been Ready Peace Was Sure.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—"If our navy had been what it is today and we had had universal training, these last four years would have been years of peace," was the assertion made last night by Admiral Henry T. Mayo, commander of the Atlantic fleet, just before he went on board his flagship, the dreadnought Tennessee, which will lead the squadron that will escort President Wilson to France.

"The conflict just ended would never have been begun by Germany if it had not been contemptuous of us as a maritime nation," continued the admiral.

"No other conflict will be begun by anybody if the United States keeps live her possibilities on land and sea."

"Congress, in dealing with military and naval matters should realize that it is better to spend a few hundred millions for adequate preparation—which is protection against war—than to have to spend billions of treasure and thousands of lives in war itself. A great and efficient navy and universal military training should be maintained by the United States from now on as the best possible means of preventing future wars."

Admiral Mayo returned Monday after a three months' tour of inspection of naval forces of the United States in foreign waters.

QUESTIONNAIRES USED TO NUMBER "FLU" CASES

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 4.—Questionnaires have been sent to 2,750 health jurisdictions in Illinois by the state department of health to obtain accurate data concerning the prevalence of influenza throughout the state and its results, as well as methods employed in combating the disease.

The information gained by this survey will be presented in the form of a report of health officers of the United States, Canada, Cuba and Mexico, who are to meet in Chicago Jan. 15 to 18 to discuss the influenza-pneumonia epidemic and means of combating threatened recurrences of the disease.

The questionnaire, prepared by federal health agencies, covers the ground from every angle and probably will furnish very complete data on which to base conclusions.

Johnson, stating that he is in a hospital in France recovering from a wound in the left shoulder received in action Oct. 11. He held for four days and nights before he was wounded. The American troops scarcely stepped to eat or sleep, although they kept in fine spirits, for, he wrote, "we had the fun on the run, and they knew the band was near."

PLANES CONNECT UP FAR PLACES

LONDON, Dec. 4. (British wireless service.)—The airplane already has begun its task of forming a link between African and Asiatic countries where railway communication is as yet nonexistent or not of the best.

On Nov. 25 Maj.-Gen. Salmond, of the Royal air force, Brig.-Gen. Martin of the same service, and Capt. Ross Smith with two mechanics, started from Cairo and arrived at Damascus, about 400 miles distant, in the afternoon.

The next day they left Damascus at 7:30 o'clock in the morning and flew to Baghdad, 450 miles distant, reaching there at 2:30 o'clock the afternoon of Dec. 1.

In three days the airmen had visited three countries, Egypt, Syria and Mesopotamia—and linked up the two great Asiatic empire.
